As already defined in previous documents, this is divided into two sections.

There is a section dedicated to companies that intend to proceed with self-assessment, define their needs in terms of skills to develop and improve, as well as identify new partners to increase their business.

Then there is the section dedicated to the Digital Innovation Hub (DIH), where it is possible to view the results deriving from the self-assessment carried out by the companies and thanks to which it is possible to have data and information from which to offer more targeted services and improve the functionality of the platform.
